Appointment Notification

We have multiple ways of notifying you of your upcoming appointments:

- Our email notifications include the service technician’s photo
- Our phone messages are delivered a week and day before your next appointment
- We can notify multiple individuals at the same time for the same appointment

Premium Portal

- Our premium portal allows customers with multiple sites to access reports, service tickets, work history, pesticide usage logs, station activity logs, etc...easily at <https://secure.griffinpestsolutions.com/>
- We also generate pest management reports on a quarterly basis for designated recipients.
- Deficiencies and alert thresholds are also generated and automatically emailed to account contacts at pre-assigned levels.

Community Activism

- Our website and blog articles offer customers and community members valuable items of interest regarding public health, food supply safety, pests, pesticides, and pest management.
- We routinely provide training, free of charge, to community centers, government agencies, non-profit agencies, and school systems.
- You can find free training webinars to assist you, your staff, and your customers on our website.
